10th International Still Life Photography Competition 2026

Organized by the La Rioja Photographic Association (AFR), the competition is open to all amateur and professional photographers worldwide. This International Competition is recognized by the Fédération Internationale de l'Art Photographique (FIAP), the Spanish Confederation of Photography (CEF), the Rioja Federation of Photography (FRF), and the Andalusian Federation of Photography (FAF). It is governed by their rules and will count towards their honorary titles.

It is sponsored by Bodegas Riojanas S.A.

Still life photography is a genre that consists of capturing images of objects, such as fruits, flowers, household items, or products, arranged artistically to create a harmonious composition. It is characterized by meticulous attention to detail in the selection, arrangement, and lighting of elements, which can range from natural elements to man-made objects, with the aim of conveying a message, emotion, or highlighting their aesthetic qualities. This competition may include living beings such as insects, snails, mice, etc., or parts of the human body such as hands, feet, etc., but not the head, as demonstrated throughout the history of art. The objective of this competition is the updating and innovation of still life photography in its broadest sense.
